Important Notice:

Keep in mind that our office has jurisdiction over the place where death occurs. This is not always the same as the place where the event that leads to death occurs.

Because Canonsburg, Washington and Monongahela have hospitals, they may seem to show a comparatively high number of overdose deaths.

As individuals are transported to these population centers from surrounding communities and subsequently pronounced in the hospital, this count is not an indicator of where the actual overdose event may have occurred.
